BILTMORE® HAPPENINGS

A season of exceptional savings

Spanning the season between holiday hustle and spring blooms is a quieter time providing the perfect mix of exceptional values, activities, and artistry: Winter at Biltmore. Adding to the value are complimentary Audio Guides and Kids' Audio Guides to Biltmore House through February 9.

Designed for Drama: Fashion from the Classics

February 10–July 4

The artistry of great literary works, costume design, and movie making comes together as Biltmore premieres Designed for Drama: Fashion from the Classics. This new exhibition in Biltmore House displays more than 40 elaborate costumes from films inspired by favorite stories in George Vanderbilt's 22,000-volume library, along with the original books that testify to his love of literature. Exclusively presented by Belk, Designed for Drama is included in your estate admission.

Come for the day, stay for the night

Retreat to The Inn on Biltmore Estate® and warm up with afternoon tea in the sun-drenched library, revitalizing spa treatments, cocktails by the fireplace, and superlative service that soothes any post-holiday melancholy. At the new Village Hotel on Biltmore Estate®, warm hospitality blends with lively activity in a comfortable setting—ideal for those seeking plenty of diversions to shake off winter doldrums.

Keep cozy in Antler Hill Village & Winery

Enjoy a variety of activities at Antler Hill Village & Winery, including free wine tastings featuring the limited-time offering of Vin Chaud, a hot mulled wine developed specifically to chase winter's chill. At The Biltmore Legacy, just steps from the Winery, the artistry of romance is highlighted with a stunning display of wedding fashions from three generations of Vanderbilt brides—all included in your estate admission.

Experience this exclusive new exhibition of more than 40 award-winning movie costumes highlighting the artistry found in great literature, costume design, and movie making.

Drawn from George Vanderbilt's love of literature, Designed for Drama showcases costumes from 14 movies based on favorite books in his collection. The costumes will be displayed in the grand rooms of Biltmore House, accompanied by the original books in Vanderbilt's 22,000-volume library that inspired the films—the first time most of these books have been seen by the public.

The exhibition features elaborate costumes from recent films that bring literary characters to life, from the entertaining detective duo of Holmes and Watson in Sherlock Holmes to the creation of the Peter Pan story in Finding Neverland.
